Washington Dispatch Says Award for New Postoffice Will be Announced Before Nov. 15.

15 PROPOSALS WERE FILED

Stated that Building Will be Ready for Occupancy in the Spring of 1917.

By United Press.
Washington, November 5.—The Treasury Department is expected to announce by November 15, the successful bidder for the construction of a new $62,000 postoffice at Seymour, Ind., bids for which were opened here several days ago. Plans for the postoffice are complete.

Specifications call for a two-story and basement structure in front, and one story and basement in the rear. The building will be of modern, fireproof construction, though whether it will be built of Indiana limestone or of sandstone has not been determined. It will cover a ground area of 4,085 square feet and the first floor will be devoted to a public lobby, the postmaster's room, mailing room and the quarters of the money order and registry divisions.

The second floor will have rest rooms for the carriers and a room for inspectors and carriers. The building will be completed by the spring of 1917, it is believed.

According to the above United Press dispatch from Washington to the Republican the treasury department will award the bid for the local postoffice building during the next few days. Fifteen bids were opened at Washington on October 30 and a Chicago contracting firm filed the lowest proposal. The specifications called for bids on both Bedford limestone and sandstone. It is generally believed here that the Indiana product will be used in the construction of the building.

Postmaster Allen Swope stated today that he had heard nothing during the last few days concerning the new building and the local office had not been informed as to when the contract would be awarded. The matter is now in the hands of the treasury department. According to the Washington dispatch today the building will be started early next year and will be completed in 1917.

CASH PRIZES TO BE DISTRIBUTED

$200 Will be Divided Among Winners at Corn Show to be Held Here December 1-4.

SILVER CUPS ALSO OFFERED

Each Township Will Constitute a District, Affording All Exhibitors Equal Chance.

Three handsome silver cups, $200 in cash, ribbons and banners will be distributed as prizes to the winners in the first Jackson County Corn Show to be held in this city December 1-4, inclusive. Announcement of the prizes to be offered will be made in the near future.

The committee in charge of the Corn Show held a meeting Thursday night and made plans for the initial venture along this line. The local mills and banks, it is understood, will purchase the silver cups to be awarded and the merchants and others interested in the Show will raise the fund from which the expenses will be paid and the cash prizes taken. Arrangements for the Show as outlined at the meeting will be made at once.

It was decided to hold the Show in the Buhner Garage on South Chestnut street. In this building ample room will be given for exhibiting the displays and the visitors will be sheltered from the weather in case of rain or snow.

County Agent Cobb was present at the meeting and upon his recommendation the township section plan was adopted for offering prizes. By this plan each township will be a district. Prizes will be offered for the best single ear and the best ten ears each of white, yellow and mixed corn. The first three prizes in each class will be cash and the third and fourth prizes will be ribbons. The winners in the township contests will be eligible to compete in the county contest for sweepstakes.

By offering prizes in the smaller districts each farmer in the county is given an opportunity to compete on an equal basis with all other corn growers in his immediate vicinity. This plan will result in a larger exhibit, it is believed, than if prizes had been offered with the entire county as one district. Under the plan approved there will be thirty prizes awarded in each township.

County Agent Cobb has arranged for Prof. G. I. Christy, head of the agricultural department of Purdue University, to speak here on Friday. The address may be given at the Majestic Theater or some other suitable place that may be selected by the arrangement committee. The county agent is also in communication with an expert corn judge in Richmond and it is believed he will be engaged to judge the entries. It is planned that the judge will also give a lecture during the week. The committees hope to crowd the week full of interesting things for the farmers so that the Show will be both interesting and instructive to them.

On Saturday, the last day of the show, a contest will be held between the domestic science departments of

This Rabbit Didn't Want to Leave Home and Face Hunters

If William Gorbett, head sawyer at the Seymour Wood Working Company, had provided himself with a few grains of salt he might have been served with young rabbit at supper today. That is, if his appetite had not been frightened away by the unexpected appearance of the fleet footed little animal. Now this particular rabbit loves his home and just because he refused to leave it he had a "hare" breadth escape from the saw at the local mill and after jumping from his hole in a log he followed the "rabbit run" towards the commons.

Although this is the open season for rabbit stories few have been told but this one will be a close competitor for the prize ribbon.

Jess Hill is cutting logs several miles from this city and is hauling the timber to the mill of the Seymour Wood Working Company where it is cut to be used in building his new home on East Third street. This morning he fell a tree in which was a small hole near the base. The tree was dragged a quarter of a mile over rough ground to the wagon and after much turning and twisting was loaded on the wagon.

The log was then hauled to this city. At the lumber yards of the local mill it was dropped on the skids and rolled to the "carriage" at the saw-mill. Gorbett placed the log in position before the saw and when the saw was just ready to enter the hollow portion, Mr. Rabbit decided that it was getting too "hot" for him there and jumped out. The rabbit instinctively turned away from the saw, ran over Gorbett's feet and took to the commons. Had the hare run in the opposite direction he would have been cut in two by the revolving saw. Gorbett saw the moving streak before him and yelled. By the time he recovered his breath the rabbit was well on its way towards the commons.

The rabbit had evidently been in the tree when it was felled and remained in its hole while the log was being loaded and hauled to the mills.

CHILD IS BURNED; MAY NOT RECOVER

Eighteen-Months-Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Sutton, in Critical Condition.

DRESS IGNITES FROM MATCH

Little Body Enveloped in Flames When Father Heard Outcry—Sutton's Hand Burned.

Dorothy, the eighteen months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Sutton, High street, this afternoon was terribly burned, probably fatally, when her dress caught on fire while playing with older children in the yard at the rear of the Sutton home. The right side of her little body above the hip was frightfully blistered and her face and head were painfully burned.

The child was playing with other children some of whom had secured possession of several matches. It is believed that one of the matches ignited the baby's dress. Her father was in his place of business adjoining the residence and heard the children screaming.

He saw the child, enveloped in flames, running towards him with her little arms stretched upward. He dashed towards her and grabbed part of the burning clothing from her body. He carried her into the house and freed her of the flaming dress.

The girl's little body was burned so severely that when her father tore off part of her clothes a piece of flesh fell from her side. Her right shoulder was burned and her neck, face and ear were badly scorched.

Two physicians were immediately summoned and the child was placed under an anaesthetic while the burns were being dressed. At 3 o'clock it was stated that the baby's recovery was doubtful.

Mr. Sutton received a painfully burned right hand when he grabbed his daughter.

STRONG ADDRESS ON EVANGELISM

Rev. J. O. Randall, Secretary of Committee on Evangelism Spoke at Closing Session.

PERSONAL WORK REACHES MEN

Stirring Plea for More Aggressive Interest in Spiritual Work by Laymen of the Churches.

The district conference which has been in session at the First M. E. Church closed Thursday evening with a stirring address on "Personal Evangelism" by Rev. J. O. Randall, of Philadelphia, Secretary of the General Conference committee on Evangelism.

Rev. A. F. Hogan, pastor of the Brownstown M. E. church led the opening devotional service. District Superintendent F. A. Steele, who presided, spoke briefly of the work in this district before introducing Mr. Randall as the evening speaker.

Mr. Randall is a speaker of large ability. He has a strong personality and held the close attention of his audience during the address. He urged the laymen of the churches to "start something." Undertake some part of the church forward movement which can be completed in each field and then push it to a successful closing. The enthusiasm in a close baseball game increases, each inning until the ninth when it reaches its climax. The church enthusiasm grows as a specific piece of work well done nears its completion.

He said men are waiting to have their companions and associates in business speak to them about the Christian life. They often wonder why Christian men do not seek them out. During the address he introduced a personal workers' card asking for two hours per month, or thirty minutes each week to be used in seeking the salvation of acquaintances.

BRYAN ATTACKS DEFENSE POLICY

Former Secretary of State Replied in Red Hot Statement to President's Speech.

MENACE TO PEACE AND SAFETY

Decries Administration's Program of Increasing the Army and Navy—"Duty to Reply."

By United Press.
Washington, November 5.—William J. Bryan today formally opened the battle against national preparedness in a red hot statement assailing the position taken by President Wilson in his Manhattan Club speech last night.

Bryan did not mince his words. He declared that the president's program of army and navy increases violated the principles of christianity. He attacked his former chief for enunciating these principles at the club whose members were "mammon worshippers." In practically every quarter it was accepted that the former secretary of state's statement widened the breach between Bryan and the president. Bryan indicated, party leaders say, that even the prospects of causing the split in the Democratic party would not deter him from attacking what he believes to be a wrong stand of the president. Bryan would not say, however, if he would take the steps in his efforts to defy the President's national defense program.

"I have read the president's speech at New York with sorrow and concern," say the former secretary of state. "He is doing what he believes to be his duty, but I feel it is my duty to dissent. We cannot criticize his motive, but those who differ with him are under like obligation to express themselves with equal clearness.

"The plan which is proposed is not only a departure from our traditions but a reversal of our national policy. It is not only a menace to our peace and safety, but a challenge to the spirit of Christianity which teaches us to influence by example rather than by exciting fear. It is a false philosophy. Being false it inevitably leads into difficulty. The spirit which makes the individual carry a revolver leads him not only to use it on slight provocation, but to use language which will provoke.

PRESIDENT DECLINES TO REPLY TO STATEMENT

Wilson Reads Summary of Bryan's Reply to His Defense Speech in New York City.

By United Press.
New York, November 5.—President Wilson this afternoon declined to comment on the statement given out at Washington by William Jennings Bryan. The president read a summary of the United Press dispatch just before leaving with Mrs. Galt, his fiancée, for luncheon.

CONSTANTINE MAY DEFY WAR PARTY

Indications are That Parliament May be Dissolved to Prevent Election of Venizelos.

EX-PREMIER FAVORS WAR

Unless Successor is Named Zaimis Would Serve for at Least Four Months.

By United Press.
Athens, November 5.—King Constantine apparently means to defy the Greek war party. Indications today were that the king would dissolve parliament, thus preventing the return to office of Ex-Premier Venizelos, the war party leader.

The king today appointed General Yanakitsa, his aid-de-camp, thus indicating his approval of the attitude of the general whose defiance of Venizelos brought on the cabinet crisis. The press and politicians agreed today that the king probably would dissolve parliament. The result would be that Zaimis, though he has resigned, would hold over for at least two months and that Greece would remain neutral for that time at least. Constantine conferred privately today with all the cabinet members.

PREMIER ASQUITH ACTING TEMPORARILY AS MINISTER

Lord Kitchener, War Minister, Away on "Public Duty." It was Announced.

By United Press.
London, November 5.—Premier Asquith is acting temporarily as British war minister while Lord Kitchener, the regular war minister, is away.

These two facts became known today when an official announcement was issued that Lord Kitchener had not resigned. It was stated his absence was "temporary" and that he was on "public duty."

By United Press.
Frankfort, Ky., November 5.—While the official vote was still being counted today, the chairman of the Republican state committee issued a detailed precinct statement claiming 1,476 plurality for Edwin P. Morrow for governor. The Democratic headquarters maintained A. O. Stanley was elected by a plurality of 3,000, but issued no statement. It is likely that a contest will result.

Fate called a quitter from the crowd
And barred his pathway to success;
At each new blow he wailed aloud
And faltered in the strife and stress;
And step by step Fate dragged him low
The easier each passing day,
And yet he struck no counter blow
Or ever upward fought his way.
And at the end he cursed the Fate
That swept him to such wretched state.

Fate picked a Fighter from the throng
And barred his pathway to the goal;
At each new blow, with purpose strong,
He fought with ever braver soul;
And step by step he fought Fate back
The easier each passing day,
And soon before the staunch attack
Fate fled in terror from his way.

And at the end he blessed Fate's whim
That helped to make a man of him.

Defeated in the several state elections Tuesday the suffrage leaders do not expect to give up the fight. They have announced that they will go to Washington in force at the opening of congress and will work for "the cause" through that body. Most of the congressmen have stated that they believe the question ought to be settled by the states which declaration is not at all surprising when such a course would relieve the Washington lawmakers of the responsibility.

The Corn Show which has been arranged for this county ought to do much to interest the farmers in growing grain of better quality. That there will be keen competition for the honors is already known. The prizes have been distributed so that each farmer will have an opportunity to compete with his own neighbors. This is conducive to the friendly rivalry that makes a contest of this character a success. Who knows, but as a result of this first Corn Show in Jackson county prize winning ears in a National Contest may be exhibited.

Efficiency is coming to be the watch word in all lines of activity. Especially is this true in the public schools. No longer are the educators satisfied with a "course of instruction." Today the work presented in the schools must be of such a character that the pupils receive direct benefit. Agricultural, manual training and domestic science courses have become part of the curriculum in order that minds of the pupils along practical lines may be more fully developed.

Since the present divorce law in Indiana became effective it has been found that many cases have been dismissed which would have reached trial under the former law. The statute provides that no divorce case can be heard within sixty days after the complaint is filed. During this interval the parties to the suit are given time to reconsider their action and to adjust their difference out of court which is far better than airing family squabbles in the court room. Many divorces are granted upon imaginary troubles. The new law is the first step in more rigid requirements for a divorce and while a great improvement has been made the laws yet are too lax.

After all, Kentucky may not be able to present that "first wedding present" to President Wilson.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

OPEN MEETING.

The home of Mrs. E. L. Hancock was hospitably thrown open on Thursday afternoon to receive the guests of the Indiana Study Club at its annual open meeting. Assisting Mrs. Hancock in receiving the guests were: Mrs. Etta Mains, Mrs. Edith Pfaffenberger and Mrs. Patience Guernsey. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and chrysanthemums. Huge masses of yellow and red chrysanthemums were banked on the fireplaces and mantels and an attractive arrangement of wall pockets filled with chrysanthemums made a charming background for the speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Mary H. Flanner of Indianapolis, who is the leader in the pageantry work in the state, gave a most delightful and varied program of readings. She was introduced by Mrs. Etta Mains, the president of the club, who prefaced her introduction by a charming rendition of Strickland Gilliland's poem, "The Flowers of the Fall." This poem very appropriately led up to Mrs. Flanner's first reading, "How The Chrysanthemums Became Ragged," a dainty little Japanese myth. Following this came a "Fable of Scandal" by Hans Christian Anderson, and then a humorous piece on eugenics, called, "Choosing Our Parents." Mrs. Flanner then read a play, written by herself, entitled "Ascension Lilies." The play deals with the emigrant problem and made a deep impression on the audience.

After her readings, Mrs. Flanner explained the purpose and value of pageantry. She introduced the subject by reading a story of Zona Gale, called "Bread", which shows the necessity of providing some good community amusement. She then presented the value of a pageant or a festival to the community. Her interest was especially in the great centennial pageant in Indiana, and she urged each town to co-operate in making this centennial of Indiana memorable.

After the program, the guests took advantage of the opportunity to meet Mrs. Flanner. During the social hour which followed, a dainty iced course was served by a coterie of young girls including Misses Marion Mains, Rebecca Dixon, Lois Casey, Rachael Barbour, Annette Kessler, Hilda Howe and Jean Webber. While the guests were assembling and at the close of the program, Rachael Barbour played some beautiful classical selections on the piano and gave several pleasing vocal numbers. She was assisted by Miss Howe.

Among the out-of-town guests present were, Mrs. Lincoln Dixon and Miss Claire Dixon of North Vernon, Mrs. A. D. Cobb of Brownstown, Mrs. Everett Meyers of Chicago, Mrs. June Holderman of Indianapolis, and Mrs. John Amick, Mrs. W. A. Hutchins, and Mrs. Clifford A. Whitecomb, of Seipio, who are members of the Wednesday Club of North Vernon.

President in Manhattan Speech Says
It is High Time to Call a Reckoning.

New York, Nov. 5.—President Woodrow Wilson was the guest of honor at the Manhattan club at the club's fiftieth anniversary dinner in the Hotel Biltmore, and used the occasion to speak his mind definitely and frankly upon his military program.
In words that fell like hammer blows, the president admitted that, since force is now the factor that sways the world, this country must prepare itself to vindicate its right to independent and unmolested action by making the force within it ready for assertion.

As earnestly as seemed possible, he voiced his approval of the new program of defense and preparedness, the assembling of force, not for attack against any nation, aggression in any quarter or for satisfaction of any sort of ambition, but purely to make sure of our own security.

He himself considered that his pronouncement in favor of adequate preparedness—a program to increase the regular army, to raise a force of 400, 000 citizen soldiers within the next three years in annual contingents of 133,000, and to bring the navy to a point "of extraordinary force and efficiency as compared with the other navies of the world," was the most important division of his address, and the one to which the public should give most heed. But there was no minimizing the significance of his stern warning to hyphenated trouble-makers, or, as the president called them, men of alien sympathies. Such undesirables, loud and clamorous, have not spoken for the vast majority of persons who have taken advantage of American hospitality, he was sure; they represented small groups, but he believed that it was high time that the nation should call a reckoning. It is impossible to exaggerate the spirit with which the president delivered this warning. Anger flashed in his eye and deepened the tones of his voice.

Cleanse The Blood Banish Rheumatism

Rheumatism Due to Bad Blood. S. S. S. Your Remedy

Thousands have been made well. People in the poorest health, suffering from Rheumatism, with whom pain was constant. Who believed that their vitality was sapped beyond repair. It was proven to them that the cause of their trouble was the blood; that Uric Acid, the most faithful ally of Rheumatism, had gripped them. The poison in the blood had sapped its strength. The weakened blood had allowed poison and impurities to accumulate, and all energy was gone. They felt "poorly," were listless, pain was ever present, with poor digestion and dyspepsia. They tried S. S. S., nature's blood tonic. They gave up drugs. This compound of nature's remedies of roots and herbs did what drugs failed to do. It literally washed the blood free from poison, and with the flow of pure blood came back health, strength, vigor and happiness. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. Insist upon S. S. S. If yours is a long standing case, write for special advice to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga., but begin taking S. S. S. at once.

BULGARS TIGHTENING GRIP ON SERB CAPITAL

French Forces Arrive in Time to Protect Bulgarian Advance in South.

London, Nov. 5.—The bombardment by the Bulgarian army under General Bojadieff of Nish, the Serbian war capital is regarded as imminent.

This army is now less than six miles northeast from the city, having taken the town of Kalafat by storm. At the present rate of progress of the Balkan invaders the key to the southern Serbian sector of the Orient railway, that is the gate to the road to Constantinople, will be under fire of the Bulgarian heavy artillery before another forty-eight hours has passed.

The Teuton center has made considerable headway during the last twenty-four hours, according to the German war office statement. Moving jointly from Kraguevac and Cacak, General von Koevess' forces on the western bank of the Morava, are sweeping along two railroads leading to Krusevac and Kraljevo, respectively.

Some reports came from presumably reliable Greek sources to the effect that King Constantine has told the French minister in Athens that Greece's attitude might be altered if Roumania should intervene on the allies' side, or if the allied soldiers in southern Serbia should make substantial gains, improving the situation.

A dispatch from Berlin transmitted an item given out there by the official Overseas News agency, stating that the Roumanian government has ordered the disarmament and internment of two Russian torpedo boats and an armed steamship, which are in Roumanian waters at Turn-Severin, on the Danube.

King Peter of Serbia, aged seventy, has gone to the front to inspire his troops to fight to the last, according to an official Bulgarian statement.

An Athens dispatch asserts the Bulgarian invasion of southern Serbia has been checked, owing to the timely French reinforcements sent to relieve the Serbian right wing. The Serbians are said to be holding the Orient railroad between Nish and Piro.

British cavalry has reached Ochrida, halting the advance of the Bulgarians on Monastir. Turco-Bulgarian irregulars, according to the same dispatch, were repulsed at Librea.

The situation in the south is declared to be improving. The landing of Anglo-French troops at Salonica continues.

ABSINTHE IN EXPLOSIVES

Is Used by French in Manufacturing Gun cotton.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Absinthe, placed under a ban for drinking purposes by the law passed early in the war, is being used in the manufacture of gun cotton.

The co-operative distillery at Pontoise, which has been extracting alcohol from beet roots for the use of the government munition factories, found the supply of beet root insufficient and is now taking over the stocks of absinthe held in warehouses. Government inspectors watch the transformation of the absinthe into alcohol.

FRIGHTENED: CALLED HELP

Cat In the Bathroom Was Thought to Be a Thief.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 5.—When Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marshall returned to their home and found the door to the bathroom locked, they suspected that a thief was in the house, and called for neighbors to aid.

When Mr. Marshall forced open the bathroom door he found that the supposed thief was the family cat which, in jumping on a table, had knocked a board against the door in such a manner as to make entrance from outside impossible.

Severely Burned.

Danville, Ind., Nov. 5.—Charles F. McClelland, an undertaker, was severely burned while assisting David A. Higgins, deputy oil inspector, in inspecting a tank of gasoline. McClelland had reached into the tank for some of the fluid, which saturated the glove on his right hand. A little later he struck a match to light a cigar and the gasoline on the glove ignited. In trying to extinguish it the other glove took fire and before the gloves could be removed both hands were burned to a blister.

CARRANZA'S SOLDIERS FIRING OVER THE BORDER

General Funston Says Wounding of Americans was Due to General Calles' Men.

Washington, Nov. 5.—That the Americans wounded in Douglas, Ariz., during the fighting of the last two days was due to Carranza forces and was deliberate on the part of the individuals responsible for it, was disclosed by Major General Funston, in a report to the war department.

General Funston's statements led to the voicing here of some criticism of his course on the ground that he and his forces were there to protect American lives and that if the firing was shown to have been deliberately aimed at Americans, he should have taken measures necessary to stop it. Much interest is being manifested now as to whether or not General Funston had any instructions not made public as to the exercising of special consideration for the Carranza forces.

It has been supposed here that the firing across the border, which wounded a number of Americans, one fatally, was due to the poorly aimed fire of the Villistas, who were attacking the border town of Agua Prieta. General Funston's report shows that this was not the case.

"It may not be understood at the war department," says General Funston, "why, in view of existing orders, I have not fired upon the contending parties, considering the fact that some bullets and shells struck on the American side and three men of the Seventh infantry were wounded. This was not done because of evident fact that both commanders were doing all they could to prevent injury to Americans. The principal faults were committed by Calles men, and I could not in fairness have open on Villa without treating Calles the same.

"For example, while Major Hay and other officers were two hundred yards north of the boundary and nine hundred yards from east flank of Calles' trenches they deliberately fired upon them and they were nearly hit. "Also, a detachment of the Ninth cavalry 1,200 yards in front of west flank of Calles' trenches and at least two hundred yards north of boundary, was fired upon therefrom, first by machine gun and then six times by artillery. Further, the custom's inspector at the same point was fired upon. Representations have been made to Calles and he has expressed regrets and given necessary assurances.

"The whereabouts of Villa and his main force is unknown."

BURGLAR WAS NEIGHBORLY

Night Visitor Makes Practice of Robbing Whole Neighborhood.

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 5.—A burglar, who makes it a practice to rob a whole neighborhood in one evening, is operating in Kokomo. His latest expedition was at the homes of C. E. Middleton, county clerk; Edward L. Martz, teller at the Howard National bank, and A. H. Hunt, local representative of the Equitable Life Assurance society. The three homes are only a few yards apart.

At the Middleton home he got a pocketbook containing $25. A traveling bag and clothing were taken from the Martz home and a suit of clothes and a purse containing a few dollars were taken from the Hunt home.

WOMAN SHOOTS HERSELF

Despondent After Having Suffered Severe Electric Shocks.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Rosa Orr, age forty-five, wife of Harry K. Orr, Panhandle conductor, committed suicide by shooting herself through the right temple and died without regaining consciousness.

On Jan. 19, 1911, Mrs. Orr was severely shocked when turning on an electric light in her home and was on the road to recovery when she was again shocked on Aug. 11, 1913. Suit was brought against the city of Logansport because of alleged defective wiring in the home and damages were awarded her. For the last three weeks she had been despondent and at times mentally unbalanced.

Killed Trying to Stop Runaway.

Rushville, Ind., Nov. 5.—The efforts of John Dyer, age fifty, a bachelor, to befriend another man, cost him his life. Dyer left his farm team to stop the team of a friend which had run away. He was entangled in the lines and trampled by the horses. His own team ran away, passing over his body. He was fatally injured.

JOASH REPAIRS THE TEMPLE. 2 Kings 11:21 to 12:16.

Golden Text:—God loveth a cheerful giver.—2 Cor 9:7.

Among the many things I do not yet know there is this—why we should know the names of some mothers and not know the name of David's mother and some others. Both in our lesson chapter and in Chronicles we are told that the mother of Joash was Zibiah of Beersheba. Now, the meaning of Beersheba is "the well of the oath" and always suggests the faithfulness of God (Gen. xxi. 31, margin). It was at Beersheba that Abraham dwelt when he went to Moriah with Isaac to offer him up, and to that home he brought him back as alive from the dead (Gen. xxii. 1-19). So I am reminded that all blessing depends upon the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ. It was a good thing for Joash that he had such a friend as Jehoiada the priest, who must have been a remarkable man in many ways, living to be 130 years of age, so he must have been 100 or nearly so when he caused Joash to be proclaimed king, just about 100 years after the death of Solomon.

Joash did right in the sight of the Lord as long as he had Jehoiada for counselor, but the people still sacrificed and burnt incense in high places (verses 2, 3; II Chron. xxiv. 2, 3). We cannot think of Israel (whether the ten tribes or the two or the twelve) being right with God apart from a right relation to the tabernacle or temple, for those buildings stood for God in their midst (Ex. xxv. 8; I Kings vi. 12, 13). So we read that Joash was minded to repair the house of the Lord, which Athaliah, that wicked woman, had broken up (II Chron. xxiv. 4, 7). The great fact about the Lord Jesus, the true tabernacle and temple, was that He was God manifest in the flesh, God was in Christ. The church, the body of Christ now being builded, is wholly for God. Each individual believer is a temple and should be wholly for God.

The repairs which Joash desired to make, like all work today, needed funds, and he thought of the tabernacle of Moses and of the willing offerings (II Chron. xxiv. 6), but he did not seem to remember that these willing offerings were brought in, not sent for. He sent the priests and Levites out to gather the necessary money, but the plan did not work, for after twenty-three years the funds had not been gathered and the repairs not made (verses 4-8; II Chron. xxiv. 5-7). Then Jehoiada the priest, the king agreeing, put a chest, with a hole in the lid of it, beside the altar as one cometh into the house of the Lord, and a proclamation was made through Judah and Jerusalem to bring in to the Lord the offering that Moses, the servant of God, had commanded Israel in the wilderness. Then the princes and the people rejoiced and brought in day by day, and thus money was gathered in abundance (verses 7-10; II Chron.

Notice that the chest to receive the offerings was placed beside the altar of burnt offering, the brazen altar, on which the lambs were offered morning and evening, typical of Golgotha and the one great sacrifice offered once for all. The one constraining motive in all offerings to the Lord must be the love of Christ, the Son of God, who loved the church and gave Himself for it; who loved me and gave Himself for me; no duty about it, but just love constraining. Then notice that there was no further effort to raise the money—no personal appeals, no soliciting from individuals, but all was brought in joyfully and willingly. Note carefully Ex. xxxv. 21, 29; I Chron. xxix. 9, 17, and lay it to heart. On this principle I have received for home and foreign missions in the last twenty-five and a half years (up to July 1, 1914) over $750,000 and in the same way have seen for thirty-four years all current expenses of a congregation easily met.

The Lord God of Israel still liveth and is ready to hold strongly with hearts that are whole toward Him as it is written in II Chron. xvi. 9, margin. The money was given to the overseers of the work, and they laid it out to the carpenters and builders that wrought upon the house of the Lord, but no reckoning was kept with the men to whom the money was given, for they dealt faithfully (verses 11-15; II Chron. xxi. 12-14). This method of handling money could not be safely carried on in our day unless we could find some workmen as faithfully honest. There are such, but they are like whole hearted Christians—few and far between—or in very small bunches here and there. We would all do well to keep in mind the day when every one of us shall give account of himself to God (Rom. xiv. 12) and live now accordingly. The conduct, or, rather, the misconduct, of Joash after the death of Jehoiada in listening to the princes of Judah and in leaving the house of the Lord God and worshipping idols and in refusing to listen to the prophets who were sent unto him is a sad and almost unbelievable record, or would be if we did not know how desperately wicked the human heart is. But what shall we say when we see Joash commanding to stone to death the son of Jehoiada because he was reproved by him? (II Chron. xxiv. 20-22.) The Lord did look upon it (Matt. xxiii. 35).

CHAPTER XXI.

Later she heard the story. The McBriars had come expecting battle. They had found every road open and the town deserted. For a time they had gone about looking for trouble, but found no one to oppose them. Then Old Milt and his son had ridden to the courthouse to demand the keys of the jail. They found Judge Sidering sitting in the little office, and with him, quite unarmed and without escort, sat Bad Anse Havey. When the two McBriars, backed by a score of armed men broke fiercely into the room, others massed at their backs, crowding doorway and hall.

"Tell Every Man That Calls His Self a McBriar That the Haveys Have Got Me in Their Damned Jailhouse!"

Judge Sidering greeted his visitors as though no intimation had ever reached him that they were coming with a grievance.

"Come in, Milt, and have a chair," he invited.

"Cheer, hell!" shouted Milt McBriar. "Give me the keys ter that jailhouse, an' give 'em ter me quick!"

Opening the drawer of his desk as if he had been asked for a match, Judge Sidering took out the big iron key to the outer door and the smaller brass key to the little row of cells. He tossed the two across to Milt in a matter-of-fact fashion.

Five minutes later the McBriar chief was back trembling with rage. He had found the jail empty.

"If you're lookin' for Luke Thixton, Milt," said the judge calmly, "the high sheriff took him to Louisville yesterday for safe-keepin'."

The answer was a bellow of rage.

Old Milt McBriar threw forward his rifle.

Anse looked up and spoke slowly: "I reckon it wouldn't profit ye much to harm us, Milt. We ain't armed, an' it would bring on a heap of trouble."

Outside rose an angry chorus of voices. The news that the jail was empty had gone through the crowd.

For a time the McBriars stood there debating his next step. The town seemed at his mercy. Seemed! That word gave him pause. The way home lay through Havey territory, which might mean twenty miles of solid ambush. Anse Havey sat too quietly for Milt's ease of mind. Was he baiting some fresh trap?

The old intruder felt baffled and at sea. He had grown accustomed to weighing and calculating with guileful deliberation. He balked at swift and impulsive action. Moreover, if he debated long, he might not be able to control his men. He looked up—to see little Milt, who was fighting back the crowd at the door and locking them out. Beyond the panels could be heard loud swearing and the impatient shuffling of many feet.

"What shall we do, son?" inquired the older man of the younger. His voice had a note of appeal and breaking power.

When Young Milt had ridden out of Peril no feudist in the hills had borne a heart fuller of hatred and hunger for vengeance, but that was because of his father. Now his father was free. For Luke Thixton he had a profound contempt. He saw in the situation only a game of wits in which Anse Havey was winner.

"Well," he replied with a grin he could not repress, "hit looks right smart ter me like that ain't nothin' to do but ride on back home an' try again next time."

That counsel in the end prevailed. Outside there had been a short, sharp struggle with a mutinous spirit. These men had come for action and they did not want to ride back foiled, but the word of Old Milt had stood unchallenged too long to fail now. Yet he led back a grumbling following and bore a discounted power. They could not forget that a Havey had worsted him.

So the spirit of the men who had come to fight vented itself in the yell and the random shots to which there was no reply, and again a train of horsemen were on their way into the hills.

When it was all over and Juanita sat there in her empty school she was realizing that, after all, the desperate moment had only been deferred and must come with absolute certainty. Christmas was only two days off and her gun-rack was empty. When she had come home there had not been a single weapon there.

There would be no Christmas tree now! The beribboned packages lay in a useless pile. Had school been in session, she knew that the desks would have been as empty as the gun-rack. The whole turtlelike life had drawn in its head and the countryside lay as though besieged.

On Anse Havey's book-shelves were new volumes, for Juanita was feeding his scant supply, and a softer type of poetry was being added to his frugal and stern repertoire. A number of men left the mountains and went into exile elsewhere. These were the witnesses who must testify against Luke Thixton and whose lives would not have been worth a nickel had they stayed at home.

Then came Christmas day itself, bleak and soggy with the thaw that had set in and the moody dreariness of the sky. The sun seemed to have despaired and made its course spiritlessly from dawn to twilight, crawling dimly across its daily arc.

Brother Anse Talbott came over to the school and found both women sitting apathetically by an untrimmed fir tree amid a litter of forgotten packages. The children of Tribulation were having the sort of Christmas they had always had—a day of terror and empty cheerlessness.

"Hit seems like a right smart pity fer them children ter be plumb, teetotally disappointed," mused the old preacher. "S'pose now ye put names on them gewgaws an' let me jest sorter ride round an' scatter 'em."

"You dear old saint!" cried Juanita, suddenly roused out of her apathy. "But you'll freeze to death an' get drowned in some ford."

"That's all right," the preacher answered briefly. "I reckon I kin go ther route."

It took Good Anse Talbott three days of battle with quicksand and mire to finish that mission. At each house he told them that Juanita Holland had sent him, and the girl was canonized afresh in hearts old and young, back in roadless coves and on bleak hillsides.

BRIDE OF ONE YEAR ENDS LIFE ON PYRE

Mrs. Amos Reynolds, 55, Builds Great Bonfire and Then Jumps Into the Flames.

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 5.—After building a huge bonfire, Mrs. Amos Reynolds, fifty-five years old, a bride of a year, took her life by jumping into the flames.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Reynolds took advantage of the absence of her husband and step-children and, going into a field near her home, collected a large quantity of brush and piled it up within 300 feet of her home.

When the great pyre was ready she applied a match, but before the blaze was well started it was extinguished by the wind. Returning to the house, she obtained a handful of matches and most all of them were used before the brush was ignited. As soon as the flames had gained sufficient headway she leaped into the middle of the fire.

A few minutes later her three step-children, whose ages ranged from six to twelve years, returned from the home of a neighbor. When still some distance from their home they saw the fire and hastened toward it only to find the charred body of the woman, who, nevertheless was still alive.

Rushing to the nearest house, they obtained help and Mrs. Reynolds was carried within doors, where she died an hour later. Mrs. Reynolds was able to whisper within ten minutes of the time she died, despite the fact that large pieces of flesh fell from her bones when the body was picked up. To her husband she declared that she regretted the affair and that had she realized the suffering she had to endure she would not have taken her life. Domestic trouble is believed to have prompted the deed.

Scientists discover the cause of bleeding gums and loose teeth

The old idea that bleeding gums and loose teeth (symptoms of pyorrhea) are due to little pieces of tartar or bone under the gums, has been exploded. Scientists have made the astounding discovery that this disease is caused by a germ which is found in every human mouth.

This germ is the most active and destructive enemy of your teeth. Are you protecting them against it? You can ward off its constant attack and escape the dread results of the disease by using the proper corrective and preventive treatment in your daily toilet.

To meet the need for this treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Seneco Tooth Paste. Seneco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Seneco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Seneco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. Get Seneco at your druggists today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sentinel Remedies Co., 506 Union Central Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Chamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. Rengo Belt

Reducing Corsets

will positively hold THEIR shape and YOUR shape

The Rengo Belt abdominal reducing feature is an integral part of every Rengo Belt corset, without which these garments would lack much of the strength for which they have gained fame. This feature puts strength into the corset without adding weight. The discovery of its reducing and strengthening principle made Rengo Belt corsets the strongest ever offered for medium and stout women and made it possible for us to announce these garments as positively unbreakable.

Rengo Belt Corsets are pre-eminently suited to the woman who wants strong support or who wishes to put unusually heavy stress upon the garment. Rengo Belt corsets are strong enough to stand where every other corset fails.

Boned throughout with double watch-spring steels, guaranteed not to rust.

There are models with and without "Steelastic" webbing. When extra flexibility and added support is desired, our exclusive "Steelastic" will be found to possess superior strength and wearing quality.

ANOTHER LOCAL MAN TO VISIT THE STATE FARM

Albert Baker Will Enjoy Rural Life at Putnamville at the Order of the City Court.

Albert Baker has heard the call "back to the farm." He isn't answering it because he believes in the "back to the soil" movement, but because he was unable to pay a fine of $50 and costs in the local police court and the farm is his only alternative.

Baker was released from the county jail Thursday morning after spending eleven days in company with the sheriff, but within a few hours after he returned here he was arrested for trespass. It is alleged that he went to the home of his wife and kicked in the door, broke out the glass in several windows and otherwise disfigured the appearance of the house. His wife asked for his arrest.

When arraigned in police court today Baker was confronted with the information that this was his fourth time before the court in as many weeks. He laid the blame on John Barleycorn but as John couldn't be found Baker had to bear the brunt of the offense. He was fined $50 and costs. Being unable to pay the fine and costs he will be taken to the State Farm where he will remain for sixty-one days.

ARE YOU GETTING YOUR SHARE OF THESE Unheard of Values In MEN'S CLOTHING and SHOES

There is but one cause—but one reason for this slaughtering of values, namely, the necessity of greatly reducing our enormous stock of men's clothing, furnishings and shoes. We want to sell—we must sell—this large stock must be turned into cash. Now is the time to act on the proverb, 'Buy when People want To Sell.' We must close out this entire stock and fixtures now. All prices have been torn to pieces; its a tremendous sacrifice—the public gets the benefit. Hurry up and get your share, you can't afford to miss this opportunity. Buy everything you need for some time ahead, you will make big interest on your investment. Men's and boy's suits, overcoats, shoes, underwear, shirts, neckwear, etc., are marked down until profits are entirely sacrificed. Come in today and get some of these bargain values for yourself. Reduced prices on everything in our stock.

Here are only a few prices. Everything in the store is marked down correspondingly.

Yours, etc., WILLIE.
